Second World War Already Has Cost U.S. as Much as No. 1

Year Hence Will Have Exceeded All of American Wars Together

Washington, May 4.—(AP)—Fiscal officials disclosed today that the United States already has paid out in cash for this war as much as it spent during World War I.

The cost of the first World War to the United States from 1917 until the peace treaty was ratified in 1921 was $25,729,000,000, including loans to the allies.

Since July 1, 1940, when this country started preparing for the present conflict, the government has paid out approximately $26,000,000,000 for war purposes. The treasury paid out $24,509,000,000 and the RFC and other corporations doing defense work spent about $1,500,000,000 cash.

With spending running over $3,000,000,000 a month, moreover, it won't be long before costs of World War II exceed the aggregate cost of the last war, including expenditures not only up to the peace treaty but also for pensions, compensation, bonuses and other purposes since. Counting these extras, the first World War cost about $45,000,000,000.

The programmed expenditures for this war now exceed $160,000,000,000, but it may take a couple of years to pay that much out. The budget bureau figures war costs (starting July 1) at $70,000,000,000. The current year's war bill will be $28,000,000,000, while the first year of preparedness, from July 1, 1940 through June 30, 1941, cost $6,047,929,292.

By this time next year, World War II costs will be greater than all American wars put together. Counting pensions and similar after-payments, the previous wars cost something over $62,000,000,000.

Exact statistics never have been compiled, but available treasury records indicate these figures:

Revolution—About $150,000,000.
War of 1812—$133,700,000.
Mexican war—$166,000,000.
Civil war (north only)—$15,097,082,784 (to 1938).

War with Spain—$1,921,504,307 (to 1938).

World War I—$41,765,000,000 (to 1934).

The treasury stopped keeping specific track of World War I costs after 1934, but items since then, especially the bonus in 1936, probably would bring the total close to $45,000,000,000.

Destroyer Kearney Is Back at Sea Fitter For Battle Than Ever

An Eastern Atlantic Port, May 4.—(AP)—The only destroyer known to have made port under her own power after being torpedoed, the U. S. S. Kearney, was at sea again today, fitter to meet the foe even than on the day she was commissioned.

That is because workmen who repaired her added something to her speed—a factor which must remain secret, even if the knowledge would give no aid or comfort to the enemy.

Eleven men gave their lives, another eleven were wounded, shortly after midnight on Oct. 16 when a terrific blast tore a gaping hole in the Kearney's starboard side, ripped a section of the deck to ribbons and demolished part of the bridge. Through almost superhuman effort, the Kearney's crew, unassisted, brought her to port and the navy thought so much of the feat that many were decorated or commended.

The War Today!

There's one good thing about the week-end war news these days, the allies have reached that point of achievement where the breaks increasingly are coming their way, and not every Monday is a blue one—an indication that we really are getting ahead with our job.

The report since Saturday has contained some real encouragement, although the Japs have mixed a nasty dose of medicine for us in Burma, and we might as well hold our noses and swallow that first. The fall of the city of Mandalay—famous because of Kipling's immortal song and strategically important as a center of transportation—has greatly added to the gravity of the Anglo-Chinese position.

In short, but for some fortuitous and lucky circumstance the allies are likely to lose all Burma. This means, of course, that the Japanese will have secured another powerful base which, among other things, helps safeguard the right flank of their conquests in Indonesia and is a potential menace to India.

However, to my mind the most serious aspect of this development is that the invaders not only will have cut China off from the Burmese oil upon which she was dependent, and severed her Burma road lifeline to the outside world, but will be in position to strike at Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek from the rear. Should this happen, China's position will be much more difficult than at any time.

On the Side

Evansville, Ill., May 4.—(AP)—Stacked on the lawn of a large house for the salvage campaign was a pile of odds and ends, and beside it an iron cot, complete with mattress and pillows. Tied to the headboard of the cot was the placard:

"No more naps till we beat the Japs."

Lewes, Del., May 4.—(AP)—Two sea-going survivors of a ship torpedoed, recuperating in a hospital here, accompanied attendants for scrub brushes and a can of paint.

"We always clean up a ship's quarters before we leave," said Seamen James Jensen and Josef Waxler.

They redecorated their room.

New York, May 4.—(AP)—A tea-sipping dog will simply have to learn to use lemon instead of sugar.

A local rationing board made this determined decision today when a woman applied for a war ration book for her pet poodle. She said the dog had tea with sugar three times a day.

"The dog is accustomed to sugar," the woman icily replied when asked if it couldn't get along without it. Just as icily, the board said "No!"

Chemist Claims Synthetic Rubber Formula Stolen; Two Men Arrested

New York, May 4.—(AP)—Two New Jersey men were charged early today with assault, robbery and the kidnapping of a Brooklyn research chemist who told police he had perfected a process for the manufacture of synthetic rubber but that it had disappeared during a scuffle with his alleged abductors.

Detective James Kane said the victim, Samuel B. Sklar, told him he was lured into an automobile by two men who said they were taking him to "police headquarters" for questioning and that when he protested they struck him in the head.

Sklar escaped from the moving automobile a few blocks away from his home and his screams

Rationing Boards of U. S. Begin Reaching Into Nation's Homes

First Books, Required to Get Sugar, Are Being Issued Today

Chicago, May 4.—(AP)—The long arm of the rationing board will reach into every home in the state beginning today and persons who register for sugar cards were urged to familiarize themselves with the information required.

Each registrant will be expected to give names, addresses, height, weight, color of hair and eyes, age and sex of every member of the immediate family for whom ration cards are required. Registration will be conducted at the nearest elementary school by teachers, members of parent-teacher associations, election officials and other volunteers.

To facilitate registration, householders were asked to appear in alphabetical sequence, starting with the "A's" and "B's" Monday morning; the "C's" and "D's" Monday afternoon; and thus through the alphabet on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

In a radio address yesterday, Gov. Dwight H. Green said, "our country takes another step forward in the all out efforts of war when our entire citizenry enters into a food rationing program. Every home, every individual will be affected."

Murder Charge Set Against K. C. Youth

Kansas City, May 4.—(AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed today against George W. Welsh, Jr., after a Circuit court judge had dismissed an indictment charging him with the butcher slaying of his 24-year-old sister, Leila.

Young Welsh, member of an old Kansas City family, pleaded innocent to his arraignment. He had been held in the County jail since his arrest Jan. 28.

A county grand jury returned the indictment against the 28-year-old youth after a long investigation.

The indictment was dismissed on motion of young Welsh's attorneys that it was invalid on the grounds that the grand jury's conduct in the investigation was improper and that it had intimidated Welsh.

The body of Miss Welsh was found in her bedroom by her mother, March 9, 1941. It was badly battered, her throat had been slashed, and a piece of flesh cut from a hip.

Invasion of China and India by Japs From Burma Likely

Nipponese Within 30 Miles of Yunnan as Defenders Retreat

(By The Associated Press)
The Japanese campaign in Burma developed swiftly today into a stark invasion threat to China from the south and India from the east as the enemy pushed China's expeditionary army to within 30 miles of the Yunnan frontier and forced the battered British troops back to less than 150 miles from the Bengal border.

A Chinese communiqué said fighting raged 60 miles north of Lashio with the Japanese driving fiercely toward Chinese positions near Kutkai, last main station on the Burma road short of China.

Another attack in which the Japanese attempted to flank the Chinese position was reported repulsed.

The fire-blackened ruins of Mandalay in the center of a Japanese wedge up the broad Irrawaddy valley separated the allied defense forces.

Heaviest Assault

A British military commentator described the Japanese thrust up the severed Burma Road toward Chungking, 700 miles to the northeast, as the heaviest assault of the campaign. He said the slowing of the flow of supplies to China since the fall of Rangoon apparently had sapped the strength of the Chinese army.

At the same time a new penetration of invasion units inland across New Guinea was timed with increased Japanese air raids on Port Moresby and suggested that the Japanese might be ready for the big struggle for control of the important south coast of New Guinea across the Coral sea from Australia.

On both fronts there were indications that defense forces—one commanded by an American and the other including United States men and equipment—were being marshaled for stiff resistance.

Bomb at Rear of Japs

United States Army bombers hammered home a new blow last night at the rear of the Japanese thrust through Burma, setting the docks of Japanese-captured Rangoon afire.

"A number of heavy bombs were dropped on the target," a communiqué announced. "One caused a large explosion and fire resulted in the middle of the dock area."

A Chinese army spokesman emphasized that the Chinese troops under Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell were still in the fight. He declared that "only a part of the Chinese expeditionary force" in Burma had been in actual contact with the Japanese thus far.

The implication was that Stilwell still had other forces to hurl into the fight in the mountains in a delaying action until reinforcements reached the frontier.

Chinese forces were reported still holding out at Taunggyi, 100 miles southeast of Mandalay on the flank of the Japanese column which drove north to Lashio and the Burma road. There was no indication whether they were cut off.

Three Bombers in Separate Crashes in West Yesterday

Pendleton, Ore., May 4.—(AP)—Three army bombers crashed in widely separated areas of the Pacific northwest yesterday, killing 15 fliers and injuring three.

The wreckage of a medium bomber, which disappeared on a flight from Gowen field at Boise, Idaho to Felts field at Spokane, Wash., was found today near Baker, Ore.

State police at Baker were advised that the ship's two officers and four men were killed.

A four-motored Boeing flying fortress, returning from Las Vegas, Nev., to Pendleton field, hit 4,000-foot ridge in the Blue mountains 20 miles southeast of here, tore a quarter-mile path through pines, and exploded. Six men were killed. Two others miraculously survived, though both were injured, one critically.

Three fliers were killed and one injured when another bomber on a training flight crashed near its base, McChord field in western Washington.

One May Be Safe

The third bomber left Gowen field at Boise, Idaho, at 2:05 p. m. yesterday and failed to arrive at its destination, Felts Field at Spokane, Wash. The army reported the ship had fuel only to last until 10 o'clock last night. Officers said, however, it was possible the plane had landed safely at some remote spot.

In the crash of the flying fortress near Pendleton, Sgt. Wesley A. Wallace of Philadelphia was thrown clear of the plane. Although he did not lose consciousness, he was unable to tell immediately what had happened. Army officers said he had minor head injuries.

Robert L. Bowman, woodcutter who heard the crash, found Wallace wandering dazedly in the woods. They made their way to the wreckage, near which they found the only other survivor, Sgt. John H. Starr of Littleton, Mass., who suffered critical injuries to his spine. They propelled Starr as comfortably as they could, and hiked three miles for help.

Sgt. Randolph T. Correll of Perryton, Texas, injured in the mishap near McChord field, was expected to recover.

War Dept. Fights Curb on Quickie Commission

Washington, May 4.—(AP)—Faced with a growing shortage of officers for the burgeoning army, the war department was reported today to be bringing heavy pressure to bear against legislation that would halt the issuance of "quickie" commissions to civilians.

The proposal was slated to go before the house on Wednesday in the form of an amendment by Rep. Faddis (D-Pa.) to a senate-approved bill doubling the $21 monthly pay for arm "buck" privates and granting increases to other ratings up to and including second lieutenants.

One member of the senate military committee who asked not to be quoted by name said war department officials had expressed the opinion that adoption of the Faddis amendment would hamper rapid expansion of the army by making it impossible to release trained officers for field duty and replace them in administrative posts with qualified civilians.

More French Hostages Executed Near Lillie

Bern, Switzerland, May 4.—(AP)—Ten hostages have been executed in Lillie, France, 50 others have been deported and very serious general restrictions will be taken against the population of that German-occupied city in reprisal for the assassination of a German soldier, there April 30, it was reported today.

(Private advices reaching New York said 55 French hostages have been executed in Lillie by the Germans but no details were given. That total brought to at least 777 the number of Frenchmen known to have been executed by the Germans.)

The Swiss telegraph agency, quoting information in the newspaper Grand Echo du Nord, said the executions and deportations took place April 30.

The newspaper also was quoted as saying that the German colonel commanding the district announced that additional hostages would be shot and more deported if the guilty persons were not identified within 10 days from today.

Battering Exchange of Blows From Air Marks Europe's War

Berlin Tells of Running Battle at Sea in Ice, Storms, High Seas

(By The Associated Press)
In a battering exchange of blows at sea power, the British declared today that the RAF left Hamburg's docks and shipyards ablaze and pounded the Nazi U-boat nest at St. Nazaire last night, and the Germans said their air force raided Alexandria, British eastern Mediterranean fleet base.

The German high command said that in other operations off Europe's far northern coast German warships, submarines and planes fought a running battle "for days on end in storm and high sea and ice" against strongly guarded allied convoys along the supply line to Russia.

With the allied account of the sea fight yet to be told, the Germans hurried to first their version which claimed that during the attacks a 10,000-ton British cruiser was sunk by a submarine and six of the convoyed ships, totaling 37,500 tons, were sent to the bottom.

Several destroyers and four supply ships were damaged in the attacks which involved more than one convoy, the German version said.

It reported that one German destroyer in a flotilla said to have "accepted battle with a superior force of enemy destroyers" was damaged seriously.

The RAF, continuing day and night attacks as spring permits, struck back over the English channel after daybreak on the heels of the night raids on Hamburg, St. Nazaire and the Nazi-occupied airdromes of northern France and the low countries.

German night bombers, attacking about 30 strong, concentrated on the southwestern English cathedral town of Exeter for the second time since the start of raids which Berlin communicates flatly call reprisal bombings. The British said five of the raiders were shot down and two others were knocked from the sky over northern France.

The British raid on the great northern German port and naval base of Hamburg, attacked for the first time since April 17, and on the submarine base at St. Nazaire underlined Britain's increased effort to keep the German sea power crippled and landlocked.

Ordnance Plant's Bus Line Starts

The Dixon Transit Company's fleet of seven fine new and modern buses started on their regular daily schedule of trips to the Green River Ordnance plant this morning at 7 o'clock, and officials of the company and of the defense plant, following a conference today, stated that the Watts garage at 113 Third street would be the central terminal and all buses will leave from this location.

The schedule provides for buses to leave the terminal every six minutes from 7 to 7:30 a. m. and from 3:00 to 3:30 p. m., to accommodate the changes of shifts for the workers. Aside from these hours, 30 minute trips will be made to and from the entrance to the plant.

Special rates have been made to defense plant workers and 12 and 24 ride tickets may be obtained from the bus drivers, at the Third street terminal, the company's offices at 96 Galena avenue and at the James and Vaile pool halls. The Transit company and defense plant official: stated today that the buses will leave only from the terminal station at the Watts garage.

Four More of Corregidor's Brave Soldiers Are Given Silver Stars

Washington, May 4.—(AP)—Four more of Corregidor's soldiers hold the army's Silver Star for their dash through shot and shell to restore the Stars and Stripes to the staff above the Manila Bay island fortress.

Yesterday's war department communiqué reported the incident, similar to one on April 18, Shell fragments struck the pole and caused the flag to fall. An officer and three men, observing this from their anti-aircraft battery positions 600 yards away, left their shelter and ran through the shell-swept parade ground.

"Making their position more precious," said the communiqué, "several dive bombers chose this moment to attack the island fortress."

Nevertheless, the men climbed the pole, repaired the halyards and restored the flag to the top of the staff.

The soldiers were Captain Arthur E. Huff of St. Louis, Mo.; Corporal Louis A. Roark, Gypsum, Kas.; Private First Class Roy O. Bailey, Kansas City, Mo., and Private Harley H. Leard, Durant, Okla.

Lieut. General Jonathan M. Wainwright warmly commended the four and awarded each the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

D. J. LEE

Chinese Vice Consul
"China's Role in World War II" is the engrossing subject of the address to be given by D. J. Lee, Vice Consul of the Chinese republic, before several hundred Dixon citizens who will assemble at a Victory banquet at the Masonic Temple, Friday evening.

Highlighting the community's War Savings Bond drive, the banquet gathering will have several other notable guests. Lt. Colonel Samuel R. Todd, acting signal officer of the Sixth Corps Area, will represent the U. S. Army; an aide to the Commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training Academy will be the Navy's representative; and officers and executives of the Green river ordnance plant will also be present.

The little known facts of China's single-handed resistance to Japan for over five years before the United States entered the war will be revealed by Vice Consul Lee in his address. The supply of tickets for the affair were sold before they had even been printed. The remainder of the tickets have been given to organization workers in the War Savings Bond drive for distribution to their friends and associates.

Hardest hit Illinois community was Franklin, a village of 500 in Morgan county, where the twister struck first. Between 50 and 70 homes were damaged or destroyed. Utility services disrupted, and sh loaded cars of a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad train toppled over.

Mayor Alan M. Keplinger a Franklin placed the damage in his community at about $125,000. He reported only one minor injury. He said about 25 families, left without shelter, were quartered in the high school overnight and hoped electric service would be restored today. The Red Cross established headquarters in the high school and the state health department arranged for emergency water protection.

Springfield hospitals cared for six persons brought from the tiny rural community of Riddle Hill eight miles away. All of the community's ten houses were damaged and its only church destroyed.

Other Communities Hit

Other communities in the path of the storm were New Berlin, Bradford, Bates, Curran, Sherman, Andrew, Elkhart and Lincoln. Damage at Elkhart and Lincoln was reported not extensive.

A survey showed about 20 farms in Logan county severely damaged while a hail storm which accompanied the high winds in Lincoln broke much of the glass in the big greenhouses of Gullett & Sons. The breakage was placed at between 65 and 70 per cent of the million square feet of glass in the greenhouses, which cover 15 acres and are among the largest in Illinois. The storm damages in Logan county were estimated unofficially at about $250,000.

North of Springfield, John Burge said he was standing on his

Trust Buys Bonds

Judge George C. Dixon, presiding in Lee county Circuit court, has entered an order which permits the trustees of the Loveland trust fund to purchase a large block of War Savings bonds. The application, filed by Attorney Robert L. Warner, permits the trustees of the Loveland Community House trust fund to purchase $10,000 in War bonds. In December a court order permitted the trustees to purchase $10,000 of Defense bonds and in February another order permitted the purchase of $4,500 of the same issue, making a total of $24,500 of War Savings bonds purchased by the Loveland trustees in less than six months.

LaSalle Man Indicted for Possessing Still

Chicago, May 4.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today returned a six count indictment charging Floyd E. Drost, La Salle, Ill., with violations of the alcohol tax law. Judge Charles E. Woodward set May 11 for Drost's arraignment and fixed bond at $3,500.

Francis McGeal, assistant prosecutor, said the case arose March 19 when Police Chief Peter Wallach went to the home of Drost's mother, Mrs. Frances Drost, at 560 Sterling street, La Salle, to investigate a city complaint that water was being illegally diverted at the residence.

McGeal said the chief found a 125-gallon-a-day still, 125 gallons of alcohol, 760 gallons of sugar mash and distilling equipment. Drost was charged with illegal distilling, possession of untaxed distilled spirits, removing alcohol from the premises and operating a distillery without furnishing a bond.

Former Rector of St. Luke's Church Mentioned in Story

The Rev. John Evans Has Special Article in Chicago Tribune

Editor's Note—Dr. Frederick C. Grant and the Rev. Richard G. Talbot, mentioned in the following special article by the Rev. John Evans of the Chicago Tribune's staff, which appeared in Sunday's issue of that paper, are former rectors of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Dixon.

Waukegan, Wis., May 2.—The beaten path to the better sermon at old Nashotah house northwest of here on the wooded shores of Nashotah (twin) lake has become a paved highway during the century which ends May 20. On that day the pilgrim feet of hundreds will traverse cloistered trails again when commencement day signifies the centennial of Wisconsin's oldest institution of higher learning.

Some even say that a ghost may join the bishops, priests, doctors, and distinguished laity of the Episcopal church in their procession which leads to academic honors for such personages as Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry of the Supreme court of Wisconsin, Dr. Vida Scudder of Wellesley college, and more than a score of clergymen and church workers.

Two Ghosts, Perhaps
In fact, it is hinted that at least two ghosts may dignify the ceremonies with their presence. For, as on one occasion, the seminary's second dean, the bearded Father Axel D. Cole "materializes" for the occasion as he did for the candid camera of an alumnus sometime back, then Betsy, his wife, builder of Fort Betsy, may likely refuse to be missing.

They say that in the flesh Betsy was at least a most resolute person. The spacious brick house she built on the campus was playfully given its lasting name of Fort Betsy by students as a commentary on her qualities. She liked it and had her personal stationery printed that way. The fort is the present dormitory for undergraduate collegians who pursue their studies at Carroll college, here in Waukegan.

Betsy Hangs Around
She built another house just outside the square mile Nashotah campus where jurisdiction would be her own instead of the dean's, but it fell, at last, into seminary hands and is now occupied by the youngest professor, the Rev. Dr. Hewitt B. Vinnedge, of the New Testament chair. He explained that when he first moved in, Betsy apparently was about merely to make sure the Vinnedge family was O. K.

Dr. Vinnedge says that Betsy's activities now consist mostly in changing curtains about, walking around quietly, and singing hymns that he cannot identify. A certain chalice also figures in the matter. Dean Cole died, and his wife was refused the request that the chalice be buried with him.

"We shall see," snapped Betsy. Seen Only Once

Never was the chalice seen again, except in hands of the materialized Father Cole, standing near his own Nashotah grave in the famous snapshot. Dr. Vinnedge, as the youngest professor, is custodian of the picture. On its back is the attestation of the photograph, penned by the late Bishop William Walter Web of the diocese of Milwaukee.

Nashotah house was dreamed first by James Lloyd Breck, a student in General Theological seminary, New York. He would enter the trackless wilderness of Wisconsin with Bishop Jackson Kemper (for whom Kemper hall was named), and build a ministering house on monastic lines "with a superior" at its head. The theology to be taught would conserve untrammelled the thought of the Oxford movement which revived the Catholic heritage of the Anglican communion.

Blue House Erected
Bishop Kemper received Breck and his four companions, and old Blue house which is still standing, was erected by donation methods. The blue of the first donated paint still horrifies the lovely landscape and accentuates the beauty of the present buildings. But blue it MUST remain. Next was a chapel—the Red chapel. Red for the same reason! It, too, stands, but removed to another site. A huge preaching cross marks its old location.

They'll Do It Every Time

Father Breck moved on in a few years to Minneapolis and St. Paul, where Breck school now honors his name. He was succeeded by Father Cole, under whom for 36 years the seminary flourished and began producing not only famed mission priests, rectors, and noted bishops, but also some of the most distinguished scholars in the Anglican communion.

The first graduate was to become the founder of the first Swedish community in the United States following the Revolution. He was Dr. Gustav Unonius, one time pastor of St. Ansgarius' church, Chicago.

Famous Graduates
Among these dignitaries of the episcopate and theological class room who came from Nashotah are the late Bishop Webb, Bishop Benjamin F. P. Ives, Bishop Webb's successor; the Rev. Dr. Joseph G. H. Barry, former rector of St. Mary the Virgin parish, New York; Dr. Edward A. Larabee, late rector of the Church of the Ascension, Chicago. These men were all deans. The present dean is Dr. E. J. M. Nutter, also an alumnus. Dr. Frederick C. Grant, former president and dean of Seabury Western seminary, Evanston, and present professor of New Testament, Union seminary, New York is a graduate of Nashotah.

Among alumni to be given degrees of doctor of divinity will be the Rev. Richard G. Talbot of Glencoe. Doctor of music degrees will be awarded to Robert R. Birch, choirmaster and organist of the Church of the Redeemer, Chicago, and Lester W. Groom, former organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Ascension, Chicago.

Oregon's Salvage for Victory Drive Starts Tomorrow

Chicago, May 4.—Salvage for Victory drives in Illinois during May must collect record amounts of scrap metal if our mills are to continue at full blast war production, Robert Ticken, chairman of the salvage committee, Illinois State Council of Defense, today told salvage chairmen in communities where drives are about to get under way.

The urgency of the need for scrap iron and steel is becoming more critical hourly as America's vast war production machine is expanded and accelerated to replace shipping and naval losses and to equip our fighting forces, Mr. Ticken said.

"Our war production program is operating at a furious pace now," Ticken said. "This must continue. May must be a record salvage month. It will be if every person in the state will exert extra effort to salvage every scrap of metal.

"Hundreds of thousands of tons of metals have been sent to the bottom of the seas by axis submarines, which are harrying our shipping. Our naval losses, too, have been considerable. There is no possibility of salvage there, that metal is lost forever. But the metal in your basement, your barn or factory is only lost if you fail to drag it out and start it on the way to a steel mill," Ticken said.

Scrap Needed Urgently
"Every American ought to keep this in mind. Our mills need scrap urgently. Our armed forces need weapons of all types. Every bit of scrap you salvage may help to keep those mills running full blast, and the production of guns, planes, tanks and ships will not be halted for a day."

More than 30 communities scattered over the state have completed plans for May drives, Ticken announced.

Seven towns are scheduled to get intensive drives under way this week in connection with annual clan up-paint-up campaigns. Barrington, Savanna, West Chicago and Carterville drives will open May 4 and continue until May 9.

Havana, Oregon and Buckley will hold drives from May 5 to 9. Kankakee, Onarga and Griggsville drives are scheduled for next week.

Elgin, Belvidere, Rockford, Morrison, Sterling, Ottawa, Peru, Danville, Quincy, Duquoin, Harrisburg and Mounds are among towns that will hold drives later in the month.

Ticken has urged the salvage chairman in these communities to organize their districts thoroughly so that every scrap of metal in the community will be salvaged. "Illinois has led all the states in collection of scrap since the Salvage for Victory campaign began. The patriotic spirit of Illinoisans will keep it in the lead. They know that the nation needs scrap metals to win the war, and I am sure everyone will go all out to help," Ticken told chairmen.

Fancy radiators, concealed piping, and other heating equipment luxuries will probably disappear from the market soon. Manufacturers have agreed to simplify sizes of radiator valves, trap bodies, and other items in order to save productive capacity.

Nation's Women Folk to Be Put Into War Jobs

New York.—(Wide World)—Women going into war jobs, many of them to sit at factory benches for the first time, are bringing new problems.

The National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., a research organization, has just completed a survey intended to help factory employers pick the right women for the right jobs, in the right way.

The report of the survey, ranging from the kind of work women can do and cannot do to their supervision on the jobs, offers these general conclusions of the board or of the employers:

There is hardly an occupation that can be said to be unsuitable for the employment of women.

The mere fact that a woman is married should be no handicap to her getting a war job.

Girls under 30 usually have more energy than older women but the latter are more stable emotionally.

A thorough physical examination of female applicants is important.

The board explains:

There is a sound physical basis for the belief women cannot do certain kinds of work, such as extremely heavy lifting, but much of this problem can be solved by conveyor systems, lifting trucks, stacking machines and other mechanical equipment.

Nevertheless, the amount of lifting women are required to do should be reduced to a minimum.

Women are likely to be more seriously affected than men by some poisons used in connection with various processes well-adapted to women's abilities.

Because their powers of resistance are lower than those of men, generally they do not appear to be well suited for jobs requiring exposure to extreme heat.

Luxury Service on Nation's Railroads Will Be Curtailed

ODT Orders Many Cuts in Extras and Streamlined Trains

Washington, D. C., May 4.—(AP)—Reduction or elimination of "luxury equipment" on railroads—such as club, lounge, parlor, and sleeping cars—is "imminent," Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, said Saturday.

Declaring that essential military and civilian travel must not be impeded, Eastman said the Office of Defense Transportation is planning restrictions on passenger travel elimination of duplicating services on competing railroads, lengthening of limited schedules to include more stops, and diversion to more important runs of such branch line equipment as can be made available.

The gasoline and rubber shortage, he explained, has caused a 50 per cent increase in passenger travel on buses and railroads since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Buses May Replace Trains

Eastman said it might be necessary to discontinue train service to some communities and substitute use of motor coaches. "The major problem confronting the railroads," Eastman explained, "is drastic redistribution of passenger services through elimination of duplications in service on competing lines, both rail and bus."

"Equipment unsuitable for heavy, high speed trains will have to be used where possible in local shuttle service to transport war workers to and from industrial zones."

"Since essential military and civilian travel must not be impeded, it will be necessary to re-adjust schedules. This undoubtedly will call for fewer trains in some territories and districts, and perhaps the complete elimination of trains used for pleasure and other nonessential travel. Lengthened fast run schedules with more stops will make it possible to take care of points formerly served by motor bus or by local trains."

Close Coordination Needed

"Where train service is discontinued, the affected communities must be served by bus. Thus the general rearrangement of passenger transportation, which must be undertaken at once, necessarily involves close coordination of railroad and motor bus facilities in order to make the buses available for effective local service."

Eastman noted that the vacation season is approaching and that further restrictions on gasoline consumption are imminent in some sections. Saying this could be expected to increase traffic demands on public carriers, Eastman added:

"In view of the extensive military movements and the increase

ESPYS RECEIVE GREETINGS FROM HOLLYWOOD ACTOR ON FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Memories of friendships dating back more than one-half a century were recalled during hand-clasps of congratulation at the informal open house held Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Espy of 416 East Third street, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. More than 70 relatives and friends were received between 2 and 5 p. m., preceding an anniversary dinner for 14 at Lowell park lodge last evening.

At mid-morning, the following telegram arrived from Actor Ronald (Dutch) Reagan of Hollywood: "Hello, Ma and Bob," and, Mrs. Espy says, "our day started right then." The Espys' friendship with Dutch dates back long before he became a brilliant film star, when he was a lifeguard at Lowell park beach where Mr. and Mrs. Espy have operated a boat landing for more than 45 years.

Four couples at yesterday's celebration have been married for 50 years, and two of the four have celebrated their sixtieth anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. William Hoberg of this city have been married 60 years, and the Ralph Joynts of Havana, Ill., who were week end guests of the Espys, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary about two weeks ago. The Espys' granddaughters, the Misses Mary Jane Hoberg and Roberta Espy, assisted them in the receiving line. Bouquets of yellow flowers, including snapdragons, tulips, lilies and roses decorated the rooms throughout. Numerous greeting cards and other remembrances added to the day's pleasure for the happy couple. The Joynts presented their hosts with a decorated wedding cake.

Following the anniversary dinner at Lowell park, Mr. and Mrs. Espy and their guests were entertained with moving pictures at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, the Harold Espys. The pictures included numerous Lowell park scenes, Dixon's Louella Parsons-Ronald Reagan Day celebration, family Christmas parties, and the Harold Espys' vacation trip to Yellowstone park last summer.

Mrs. Hannah Fallstrom, sister-in-law of Mrs. Espy, came from Whitewater, Wis., to attend the celebration.

DIXON TELEPHONE SERVICE

DIXON TELEPHONE SERVICE HAS ENTERED THE WAR

For the past several years Dixon Telephone Service has taken great pride in giving its patrons a phone service which, for efficiency and speed, stood among those ranking highest in America.

Now comes the Army Ordnance Plant and other War Services with their thousands of additional telephone calls which must have precedence over all other calls.

This suddenly has overtaxed our equipment capacity by nearly one-third—especially the long distance part.

Because of this our Telephone Service is in the similar situation as if, in normal times, some gigantic storm suddenly eliminated one-third of our telephone plant.

To correct this situation additional equipment has been ordered to arrive as fast as possible. Some of this is now being installed, while other portions will not arrive until nearly the middle of August, due to the war scarcity of materials.

Therefore, we ask our subscribers to be patriotically patient until we can relieve the situation.

A Thought for Today

Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings.—Isaiah 3:10.

Let each man think himself an act of God. His mind a thought, his life a breath of God.—Bailey.

The Best Defense

Archibald MacLeish scored a bull's eye when he told publishers that the truth is the best defense against enemy propaganda.

He would have performed a greater service, and struck a more novel chord, if he had given the newspapermen an idea how, under current conditions, they can get and print the truth.

Every responsible editor, even under censorship, is doing his best to see that nothing but the truth gets into his news columns. But there isn't a newspaper in this country which can pretend with straight face that it prints all of the important truths it can obtain and verify.

By general agreement, each executive withholds what in his opinion might be of value to the national enemies. Then—and this is what hurts—he deletes anything which he fears Washington might think could conceivably be of value to the enemy.

The result is, of course, that the public obtains a very incomplete picture of what is going on. It learns much less than the truth.

Some of the details which the government withholds from the press, or which editors withhold from the public obviously should not be printed, or should be deferred for strategic reasons.

There can be no sound criticism, for example, of the government's refusal to comment on the raid on Japan. Washington's reticence has been justified by the unbelievably asinine sequence of statements on the raid which have come from Tokyo and Berlin. Reading them, no layman could ever again give credence to any war communication out of Nippon until it had been verified from a responsible source. By keeping still, our government has let the Japs show themselves as the clumsy liars they are.

In the name of national unity and morale, there is a persistent attempt to soft pedal criticism of the official conduct of this war. Specific facts and figures by which the progress of our preparation could be measured are all but impossible to obtain for publication.

This is not a healthy situation. The less genuine information the newspapers are permitted to print, the more receptive is the public mind to distorted gossiping which sometimes actually is the product of obstructionists, saboteurs, defeatists, fifth columnists.

Mr. MacLeish is correct. The truth, while at times it will hurt, is the best defense against enemy propaganda. As director of the Office of Facts and Figures, can Mr. MacLeish arrange for newspapers to obtain a little more of the pregnant truth, and to be permitted to print it?

One reason we're still half asleep, as a nation, in this war is that we haven't been given the available proof as to how important it is that we become wide awake.

Brewster Crackdown

There would seem to be something very mysterious about the circumstances under which the Navy has taken over four plants of the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation.

There was no labor trouble. Union spokesmen praised the company's attitude toward employees. Both the Navy's new manager and the union representatives denied that there is enemy alien trouble in the plant.

The Navy says the plants were not producing finished planes. The union says the failure appears to be due to inability to get necessary parts from subcontractors. All agree that one reason planes have not been produced is that the plant has been switched to a new type of aircraft.

Perhaps there is some further important fact which all parties concerned are conspiring to keep from the public. If not, the Navy's action would seem to be unusually drastic—and perhaps misdirected. If subcontractors do not deliver, why not take over their plants, if anybody's?

We want war production to the limit. But we don't want a lot of cracking down just to prove how tough some big boy is.

Wars Promote Self-Sufficiency

A few years ago they were saying that war settles nothing. In addition to settling the hash of Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini, the present war may well settle the rubber business.

We read that an American claims he has devised a way of making a form of rubber out of coal, wood pulp and other common materials, and that he says he can produce it at a fraction of the cost we have paid for natural rubber. The government, it is said, has asked him to show how he does it. If he does, and if there is no practical joke involved, then the Malay peninsula and other natural rubber producing areas might as well revert to the jungle.

Regardless of the incident mentioned, it will be strange indeed if some American process is not developed to produce something better, and perhaps cheaper, than natural rubber. It will be hard to keep American industry happy in the future if its existence is based upon the security of lines of transport with rubber plantations on the other side of the world.

We are aware that Vice President Wallace has written that development of rubber substitutes in the United States would "interfere with our imports" and give the industrialists something on which to base demands for a new tariff. It is true that an American rubber-producing industry would interfere with the import business, but it would make it forever impossible for us to need rationing every time some enemy nation trotted out its battle wares.

People are inclined to develop import businesses in time of peace, and to develop substitutes when imports are cut off by war. When these substitutes are better than the original imports, they are likely to stay.

CONCERT PARTY CHAPTER XVII

MYRA, unaware of Peggy's latest machinations, was enjoying herself no less than Ferdie as the two of them sunned on the wharf, their swim suits steaming in the warmth after a leisurely dip.

Ferdie thanked his pampering stars all over again, as he had occasion to do several times a year, for Myra's friendship. Surfeited with women who overworked their charms and traded on allure, he felt Myra to be the one female in all his broad and sometimes troublesome acquaintance who could be relied upon never to intrude beyond friendship upon his happy inclination towards bacchelorhood.

"Nice child, that kid sister of yours," said Ferdie.

"Too much like an electric eel for my comfort," said Myra. "I have a feeling that I can never be sure she isn't up to some mischief, some way or other."

"Vitality, that's her strong point. I'd like to paint her." Ferdie paused as if seeing her posed upon his studio throne for a portrait.

"No, there's that touch of Vivien Leighness about her face and eyes. It's been overdone. When is your brother going back?"

"He finishes his leave next week."

"Good face. Strong. I'd like to get a sketch of him in battle dress. Might be a good subject for the next exhibition."

"He is tops," said Myra who had a very deep affection for Michael and admiration for his strength of character.

"He seems to be attracted by Fay," continued Ferdie. "So is Nigel."

"Our friend Baldy is quite a specimen, isn't he?" observed Myra.

"Not bad in his way," replied Ferdie drily. "A week up here and he might become human."

"He said he'd go mad, but I suppose there's not much difference."

Ferdie grinned. "We really must rescue Fay from him. We'll mix things tonight. Keep him away from her, cut in whenever he begins to talk."

THAT evening was even more serene than the previous one. After the hot day, coolness drifted up from the lake, the trees and over the hills the moon, already a little larger, cast a pale glow over the Laurentians.

There was a mellowness of mood over the party. The easy tiredness that comes with sunshine and bathing and walking had relaxed everyone. Everyone except Baldy and Peggy. Baldy had had an afternoon of unbroken sleep aided by three Tom Collinses and he was full of restlessness.

Peggy seemed just as full of spirits and energy as she had been all day. Nothing seemed to dampen her. Her plans had not gone as well as they might have done. She had steered Nigel to the view where she expected to find her brother and Fay. They had eventually found them, but not nearly as close to one another as Peggy would have liked. They were sitting on a rock at the top of a hill, apparently engaged in a quite ordinary conversation.

It would have been better had Michael worked as fast as she did herself, but that couldn't be helped. Perhaps he was really in love and that always slowed things up, reflected Peggy.

At dinner Fay had told the rest of the company about Michael's idea and they had all received it with enthusiasm except Baldy, who interrupted at every vital point with a grunt that registered disgust.

Peggy perceived his general frame of mind and whispered to Ferdie, who obligingly speeded up the replenishment of Baldy's glass, and shortly the grunts became less non-cooperative.

"You see," said Fay, "we could easily get a group together for rehearsal and if the show went well we should have the satisfaction of doing war work and doing what we wanted to do at the same time."

"Concert Party!" said Baldy. "Concert Party!" What does this country want—concert parties or dollars, good American dollars? With these contracts I got for you, you could make enough American exchange for this country to pay for a couple of Spitfires. Now there's war work for you. There's some real war work, bringing in the dough! The soldiers can sing to themselves, they're singing all the time, ain't they? Got nothing else to do with their time. What do they want—a three-figure dame wasting her talent on them when it could be bringing in dough to buy stuff for them to fight with? That's a real job, that is."

BOTH soldiers sprang to Fay's defense with such a tongue-lashing that even the irrepressible Baldy couldn't bear up under it. He retired to a neutral corner to nurse wounded feelings and a fresh drink, but Myra, Ferdie, Fay and Ferdie's aunt entered the ring, giving Baldy a lecture on the morale-boosting importance of good entertainment for soldiers that left him with no defense save sputtering.

Looking about for escape, he thought he saw it in Peggy's mischievous wink. "After all," she said, "there is something in what Baldy says—something in what he looks like a grand chance for me."

Peggy looked pretty petulant, wondering if her latest strategy was having its effect on the cornered showman, or if he was too miserable to be influenced by anything less subtle than a falling safe.

"But Baldy, darling—" her accent on the second word might have been good or genuine friendliness. "Baldy, do be sweet and play a sort of game with us."

Myra cocked her head suspiciously but Peggy rushed on before her sister could intervene.

"Just for tonight, let's pretend we are going to stage a Concert Party. After all, we may none of us—except Fay, if she likes—have another chance to meet a clever New York producer like Baldy."

Peggy was at his side, her arm snugly through his. "Wouldn't it be tragic if we didn't learn all we can from him? He was telling me all his experiences on the stage only this afternoon, and really, with his background—"

Fay caught the spirit of the ruse and entered in. "I don't see how Baldy can refuse us, especially since it's all in fun."

Baldy was warming perceptibly and the others were interested in Peggy's wheedling. Only Myra looked her suspicion. "I'd swap my favorite swear word to know what shenanigans that youngster is up to," she muttered to herself. "Whatever it is, we'll probably all find our lives upside down before this night's over."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, May 3—Hemming and naving over whether the government should seize the Curtiss-Wright airplane factory at Columbus, Ohio, have been reaching the public prints, off and on, in a necessarily vague way, because of the desire of everyone to avoid disclosing military secrets involved.

It should no longer be a military secret that this plant achieved the sensational record of not delivering a single airplane for more than 14 months after it broke ground. The plant was started January 20, 1941, and was finished nearly a year ago in the middle of June. Yet the first delivery was made only a few days ago.

A big christening was held last December 4, for what was supposed to be the first plane off the line. Deliveries were supposed to have started then.

Pictures were taken and newspaper stories widely circulated. Since then the only matters about which there has been any publicity have been the accusations and denials that a slowdown existed there.

The christened plane was actually only a test model. After the cameras were taken away and the newspapermen had gone, weights were dropped on its wings, etc., to determine its durability. It was wrecked in the process, and actual deliveries did not start until about five months later.

Now, there may be disputes as to who is to blame, but there can be no denial of these facts. Among the explanations, which are no doubt valid, are that the personnel in the plant was 92 per cent new to the aviation industry; that the plant itself was likewise new; that the company had to do experimental designing and proving, as well as producing, etc.

Other charges that have been made, however, are: That morale in the plant has been low; that labor has been in a slowdown; and that neither the management nor the labor seemed able to handle its own end of the business efficiently.

Whether a new naval inspector assigned to the plant will change matters remains to be seen.

Regardless of all that, no one here or in Columbus has been able to cut through this amazing situation and give that plant a record of which it should be proud. So far it has produced more explanations than planes.

Stalin's May Day speech was addressed to the Red workers, but it sounded like none he ever made before. Gone was any talk of "The Revolution." Absent was any suggestion of his kind of collectivism. What he wants now is: "Freedom and justice."

Moderate also were his demands. He renounced any ambition for territory, beyond the acquisition (he said "freeing") of his own Ukraine and White Russians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians, and Finnish Karelians.

While this new presentation of Russian purposes may have been partly conceived for effect on the outside world, its main effect will be upon the Russian people themselves, directing their minds away from old Red goals toward a new one.

Political fronts can be swiftly changed in a dictator nation like Russia. This one may also be subject to post-war change without notice. But for the present at least it will contribute further unity to the cause of the United Nations.

Roosevelt will have trouble keeping his promise to maintain his shipment of supplies to China. He was no doubt speaking of creating a new Burma road of the skies. He could make it fully efficient only with 100 transport planes, each plane would carry three or four tons. With a round trip a day from India for each plane, the skyway could approximate the peak traffic of the Burma highway. It carried around 15,000 tons a month, although 6000 of this was gas for the trucks.

A hundred planes, however, are hard to find these days. The Chinese were promised 25 but they have not yet received these.

Very little material has been getting into China since the Japs seized Rangoon.

Wheat Growers for Continued Federal Program of Control

Washington, May 4.—(AP)—Operation of the federal wheat marketing control program for another season is favored overwhelmingly by the growers.

Tabulations of votes cast Saturday in 40 states showed more than 81 per cent were in the "yes" column. The returns were not quite complete, but they included the states in which agriculture department officials expected substantial opposition. A two-thirds vote was needed for continuance of the program.

The totals: In favor of marketing quotas, 281,295; opposed 63,083.

In support of the control program it is contended that carry-over supplies and the 1942 production would give the country a two-year stock of wheat this fall. Reduced wheat acreage also would mean greater production of other needed supplies, such as meat, dairy and poultry products and vegetables. The wheat acreage this year is slightly less than 55,000,000 acres, compared with a peak of 80,000,000.

ILLINOIS 361

Decatur, Ill., May 4.—(AP)—By a three to one majority, Illinois farmers have voted approval of continued federal control over wheat production and marketing.

The vote was 12,236 in favor of AAA marketing quotas on the 1942 crop and 3,970 against, with 1,214 ballots challenged. The proposal carried by approximately the same majority last year.

A total of 40,167 farmers were eligible to vote in the referendum held Saturday in the state. The challenged votes were questioned by the referendum committee, pending an investigation of whether the farmers raised sufficient wheat to entitle them to cast ballots.

Governor May Call Special Session to Vote on State Fair

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—(AP)—State Rep. Henry Knauf (D-Ladd) says he has been told by "dependable officials" that Gov. Dwight Green planned to call a special session of the legislature soon to act on legislation permitting the state fair to be held at some city outside of Springfield this summer.

The Illinois state fair grounds has been taken over by the war department for use as an air corps supply depot. Attorney General George F. Barrett has ruled that legislation is needed to move the fair outside Springfield.

Democrats Favor Fair
Knauf said after a conference yesterday with Arthur A. Sullivan, Democratic state central committee chairman, that Democratic legislators were "strongly in favor" of conducting the state fair this year.

"The money has already been appropriated for the fair," Knauf said. "We owe it to the live stock breeders and crop raisers of the state to provide the annual exposition."

Knauf, who is vice president of the United States Trotting association, with supervision of grand circuit racing in states west of Ohio, said that the Illinois grand circuit might be conducted in August even to though the state fair was not held. He pointed out that Col. E. J. Baker of St. Charles, long a leader in grand circuit racing, had recently purchased Exposition park at Aurora.

May Race at Aurora
"Exposition park could well be used for grand circuit racing, and I would not be surprised to see this season's meeting held there if arrangements are not made to hold a fair," Knauf said.

Exposition park also has been prominently mentioned as a possibility for a state fair site if the exposition is conducted this year.

Murray Gets Vote of Confidence From Home Town Miners

CIO Head Assails John L. Lewis: Denies He's at Odds With FDR

Pittsburgh, May 4—(AP)—CIO President Philip Murray, after defending his administration against what he called a "whispering campaign" in a dramatic week-end speech, today had a vote of confidence from the SWOC in which the CIO steel workers declared they would not tolerate any attempt to "undermine his leadership".

Four hundred SWOC delegates, meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution expressing "deep gratitude and loyalty" to Murray, their chairman, and adding that they "will not tolerate the activities of any individual or group of individuals to disrupt the unity of our organization".

The conferees took no action in regard to President Roosevelt's proposed wage stabilization program. Murray commented later at a press conference that both the CIO and AFL have expressed "unalterable opposition to national wage freezing".

"I have never known a war that is more of labor's war than this war," he said. "I know that in the United States there are forces operating that would like to have the trade union movement destroyed. These forces are x x x commonly referred to as isolationists. They would rather impede the winning of the war through anti-labor legislation".

Still for Roosevelt
Remarking that he had read headlines to the effect he was in "bitter disagreement" with Roosevelt, Murray continued:

"I hasten to say that the president and I are not at odds. I'm one of those persons who might even disagree with a president of the United States but the fact that I have disagreed about policy does not mean that such disagreement has brought about a parting of the ways. I would lose my shirt today to help the president win the war".

Addressing his home United Mine Workers local at Cokeburg, Pa., Saturday, Murray said "paid purveyors of poison" are maligning him and "an attempt is being made to sabotage from within and destroy the CIO".

Stirred emotionally as he spoke in the ballroom where he had worked in the coal pits, the gray-haired CIO chief broke into tears when he said he hoped "I am given the chance to live and die and fight for, and with, the miners". This apparently referred to reports that UMW President John L. Lewis is planning to remove him as vice-president of the miners' union, his only salaried union job.

"I have never drifted away from the miners and so help me God I never will," Murray said. "If anyone starts a mess in the miners' union or any other union, I hope he is driven out of office". The miners cheered their approval when he asked them to "stick by me".

"I Am an American" Day is Proclaimed

Springfield, Ill., May 4—Governor Dwight H. Green in a proclamation today designated Sunday, May 17, as I Am an American Day and urged all citizens to join in suitable programs to observe it. The proclamation follows: "United States citizenship has been precious since the days in which our republic was founded, and today is more highly valued than ever. It is a guarantee of liberty and justice. A citizen of the United States is a shareholder in the greatest nation in the world."

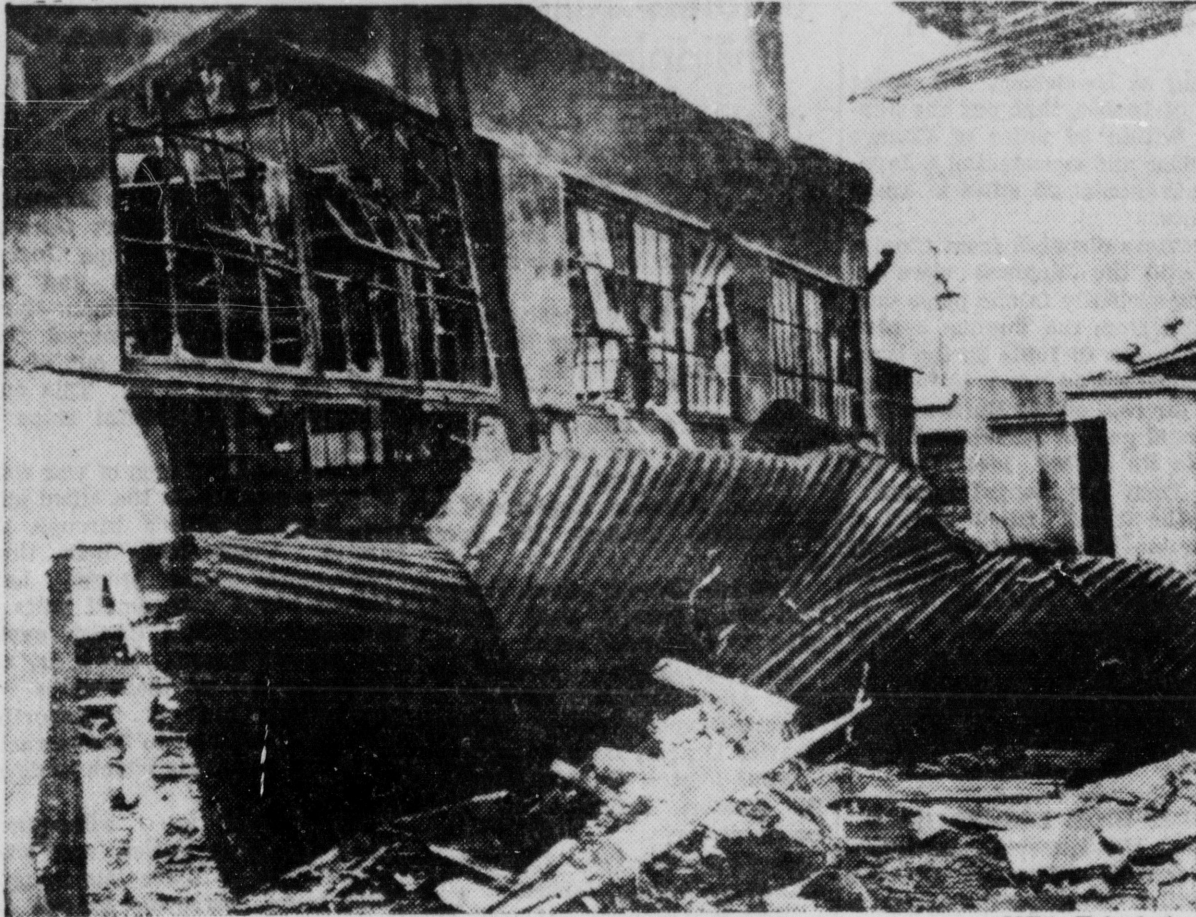

"The President of the United States has designated Sunday, May 17, as 'I Am an American Day,' a time in which to dwell on the values and duties of citizenship, and, particularly, to celebrate the attainment of citizenship by those who have recently reached the age of twenty-one and those who have lately been naturalized."

"In this year of war we do well to emphasize the high privileges and responsibilities of citizenship. Now, therefore, I Dwight H. Green, Governor of the State of Illinois, do hereby proclaim Sunday, May 17, of the present year, as I Am an American Day for the State of Illinois, and urge our people to join in carrying out programs suitable to the occasion".

Learn MacNider Is Army Supply Aid to General MacArthur

Among the officers handling supply problems for the American forces in Australia is Col. Hanford MacNider, former assistant secretary of war and an outspoken opponent of the trend toward war in the United States prior to last Dec. 7, it was revealed in a recent Mutual Broadcasting system program from Australia.

Col. MacNider was introduced to the radio audience by Frank Cuhel, Mutual commentator in Australia, who described the activities of American experts "down under" who are directing the complicated job of keeping United States troops supplied.

Need Continuous Stream
After a brief word of praise for the American and Australian troops, Col. MacNider said, "What every army needs is the continuous stream of supplies, ships, planes, cannon, bombs. These lads will deliver them just where you want them delivered."

"If you will keep handing us what it takes, we will hand it what we need."

Col. MacNider fought in France in World War I as a second lieutenant, was wounded at Saint Mihiel, and received the distinguished service cross and the croix de guerre. He served during Republican administrations as assistant secretary of war and as United States minister to Canada. He is a former national commander of the American Legion, and in the months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor made many anti-war speeches under the auspices of the American First committee.

Experts Tackle Job

When war came, MacNider was president of the Northwestern Portland Cement company in Mason City, Ia. Last January he was called to duty.

Cuhel said Col. Lester J. Whitlock is in charge of American supply problems in Australia, aided by a large group of specially selected experts, many of whom are Americans. Among them are

Questions and Answers Prepared by Office of Administration

Washington, May 4—(AP)—Price Administration Leon Henderson has ordered rents reduced and stabilized in 302 defense areas within 60 days. In 259 of the areas, the rent prevailing on March 1, 1942 was fixed as the maximum that may be charged; in 28 areas the maximum date set was April 1, 1941; in eight areas the date chosen was Jan. 1, 1941, and in the remaining seven the date was July 1, 1941.

The following questions and answers prepared by the Office of Price Administration explain the procedure, based on the March 1, 1942 date. In the other areas the proper date should be substituted:

Q. I live in one of the defense-rental areas designated by Henderson and my rent has been increased since March 1, 1942, the maximum rent date which Henderson has just recommended for my area. How soon may I expect a cut in rent?

A. Under the emergency price control act the federal government can not order rents reduced for 60 days. During this waiting period, any reduction is up to your landlord or to state and local action.

Q. What will happen at the end of 60 days?

A. If, at the end of 60 days, Henderson finds that his recommendations for the area have not been met, he can step in at any time and regulate rents.

Method Explained

Q. By what method will Henderson establish maximum rents?

A. He will order all housing rents held to the rents in effect on a specified date. That date is the "maximum-rent date". As a general principle the rent for any house can be no more than the rent for that house on the maximum-rent date. Special regulations will control rents in houses that were not rented on the maximum-rent date.

Q. My rent was raised from $32 to $40 a month on April 1, 1942. Suppose that Henderson, after the 60-day waiting period, orders rents held at the March 1, 1942, level, will I receive a refund?

A. No, you will receive no refund. But after the 60-day period and after the price administrator has issued regulations for your area, you will pay only $32.

Q. But I signed a new lease at $40 a month, and the lease has 11 months to run. Must I still pay $40?

Leases Not Binding
A. No, you will pay no more than $32 regardless of any lease, sub-lease, agreement, contract or other obligation.

Q. What happens to the landlord if he has made extensive and major alterations in the house since the maximum-rent date?

A. Regulations will permit an adjustment in rents in exceptional cases and where there has been no attempt to evade the law.

Q. What sort of housing accommodations does the rent-control law cover?

A. Everything from a house to a trailer—including flats, apartments, tenements, single houses, duplex houses, boarding and rooming houses, hotel rooms, and tourist camps.

Q. Does the rent control law apply to federal housing projects?

A. Yes, to all housing accommodations in a defense-rental area, whether owned or operated by individuals, corporations or the government.

Q. Are stores and commercial buildings included?

A. No, the rent control law applies only to dwelling accommodations.

Victory Sales Class Enters Its Last Week

With the enrollment still soaring, the special eight-meeting Victory sales class conducted at the Dixon high school under the joint auspices of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the public schools now enters its final week. One class increased from 80 to 130 overnight last week. Total enrollment has jumped to over 160 which is a record for Illinois. Freeport had 296 in Ted Case's course after starting with 125, but Mr. Case says that Dixon is ahead of Freeport because of the difference in populations. Anyone who has not yet enrolled need not feel it is too late to secure a lot of good, practical pointers from the remaining lessons extending through Friday of this week. Miss Frances Patrick, Secretary of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, will be glad to receive additional enrollments. There is no charge. Her phone number is 26.

HASH AND RE-HASH . . . just as we got nicely situated on an extra-high camp stool so we could visualize the "hosses" tearing down the stretch for the rose honors in the Derby a veritable bedlam broke loose around us . . . George Breeding and Eddie "Baby" Uebel decided it was just the proper time and place to start replaying a ten-year-old baseball grudge game . . . it seems as though along about 1932 sometime a classic diamond tussle was played between the "City Dudes" and the "Beier's Loafers" . . . Eddie played with the Dudes and George was one of the mainstays on the Loafer outfit . . . and just at Derby time they decided to once and for all settle the issue as to who won that game; and imagine fans, these two lads had jitneys on the Derby "nags" . . . the best we could make out is that "Baby" Uebel won the argument and so back in 1932 the Dudes beat the Loafers . . . but Master George wasn't content with Eddie's solution so a challenge was issued to finally settle the whole thing . . . so sometime in the near future Eddie and George are getting the two old outfits together again to battle it out to see just who did have the best team around here in 1932 . . .

Springfield Favored To Win Three-Eye League

Chicago, May 4—(AP)—Springfield appeared to be the team to beat in the Three-Eye League after displaying a burst of bat power as the loop opened its four-months' season yesterday.

Cedar Rapids dusted two twirlers for seven hits to whip Decatur 4-1. Three runs in the sixth inning decided the issue.

Mason and Sack Win Singles Title in District Tennis Meet

Two Dukes Battled It Out for Title in Singles Events; Ted Mason Downs Ned Sack; Dukes Tie For Second Place

Coach Lundholm's Duke tennis team grabbed off the singles honors in the State District Tennis meet at Rockford Saturday. Ned Sack and Ted Mason of the Dukes won their way to the finals in the singles events and Mason downed Sack to take the district title.

West High of Rockford won the meet by slamming the doubles events and amassing a total of 14 points. Dixon finished in a tie for second with East High of Rockford, and Rochelle by taking nine points in the singles. DeKalb finished in fifth with three tallies.

Ned Sack of the Dukes took a bye in the first round, then defeated Bennett of West High in the second round after losing the first set to him by 4-6. Sack's come back in this match was strong as he took the last two sets at 6-3 and 6-1. Sack continued his winning ways in the semi-finals by defeating Franzen of East Rockford in sets of 6-2, 2-6 and 6-4. This put Ned in the finals. Ted Mason worked his way to the finals by turning back Littlejohn of Rochelle in the first two sets at 6-4 and 6-2. He took on the strong strokes of Elvidge, East High star, and outdid him in sets of 6-4, 5-7 and 6-2, had easy sailing as he defeated Hancock of West Rockford in the semi-finals 6-3 and 6-3. This left just the two Dukes to battle it out for the title of the district singles. It didn't make much difference which of them won for both were now eligible to go to the state finals at Champaign. Nevertheless Mason defeated Sack in the finals by the count of 7-9, 6-2 and 6-4.

West High won the meet by virtue of placing four men in the finals of the doubles events. Gordon Smith and Jack Bendelow of West High defeated Sam Maggio and John Micelo also of West High for the doubles championship in sets of 6-3 and 6-1.

Vandalia Coach Resigns To Take LaGrange Job
Wheaton, Ill., May 4—(AP)—Luke Ashby, head coach and athletic director at the Vandalia high school for ten years, will coach varsity basketball and light weight football at Lyons high school in LaGrange beginning in September.

Ashby, who succeeds Robert Sedgwick, named head baseball coach at Lyons high, is a graduate of the University of Indiana. Eight of his 10 Vandalia basketball teams were winners of state regional tournaments and three times they went to Champaign for the finals.

He picked up horse after horse, caught Pinkie Grimes With Regard, the early pace setter, at the sixteenth pole, collared Emerson Woodward's Valdina Orphan in the last strides but had to be content with second money.

Then there was Requested, Ben Whitaker's Texas-owned chestnut, who was the biggest disappointment of the Derby.

Requested outran only one horse in the field of 15.

The Grentree Pair, Alsab and Requested, along with Mrs. Barclay Douglas's Fair Call, William Woodward's Apache, Valdina Orphan and Hollywood and possibly William Dupont's Jr.'s Manah are headed for Pimlico.

Cardinals Baste Brooklyn Bums in Double-Toiler

Red Sox Put Halt To Indian Winning Streak at No. 13

White Sox Singin' The Blues Deep Down in Cellar

By Associated Press
Brooklyn's champion Dodgers still rule the roost in the National League, but the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates have them hanging on the ropes in what is rapidly shaping up as the hottest three-way argument since junior learned to drive the family automobile.

Still reeling from the effects of a one-two punch they absorbed at Pittsburgh, Durocher's Dandies staggered into St. Louis yesterday and were flattened twice by a Cardinal team that finally discovered what bats were for.

A total of 135,654 customers paid their way into American League parks yesterday and 87,090 turned out in the National League, Yankee Stadium in New York boasted the season's greatest throng, 65,804.

At St. Louis, 24,871 watched the Cardinals clip the Dodgers, 14-10, in a long-winded opening game and 4-2 in the afterpiece, which was held to five and a half innings because the daylight ran out.

The double defeat reduced Brooklyn's margin to a single game over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who missed their chance to share the lead by dividing a doubleheader with the Boston Braves.

The Dodgers and Cards went at it hammer and tongs, but Cardinal catcher Ken O'Dea decided the issue in the opening game with a grand-slam homer that routed Whitlow Wyatt in the first inning and a three-run double that broke a 10-10 tie in the seventh.

Kirby Higbe issued a trio of untimely walks in losing the second game. With the bases filled on passes in the fourth inning, Jimmy Brown tripled to bring in all the runs St. Louis needed, and came home himself on an outfield fly.

Both managers and three players were chased from the field for differing with the umpires on various decisions. Leo Durocher and Billy Southworth were waved to the showers in the opener, along with Freddie Fitzsimmons on the Brooks, while Dodger Wyatt and Dolph Camilli were banished during the nightcap.

Pressure finally caught up with the Cleveland Indians, two lengths to the good in the American League, and the Boston Red Sox cashed in on a trio of errors for an 8-4 triumph that ended the tribe's winning streak at 13 games. The Boston crowd of 32,123 was the second biggest of the day.

Yanks Clip Sox
Rudy York's sixth and seventh home runs of the season carried the Detroit Tigers to an 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, but Phil Marchildon pitched a sparkling two-hitter in the nightcap to give the A's an even break, 1-0.

The New York Yankees snapped a deadlock with the Red Sox and moved to within a half game of the second-place Tigers by sweeping a bargain bill from the Chicago White Sox, 6-4 and 3-1. A two-run homer by Charlie Keller paced the Yankee attack in the opening game and Atley Donald kept the Sox under control in the second by scattering seven hits.

The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators divided their double bill, Washington taking the opener 9-8 on Stan Spence's two-run triple in the ninth and St. Louis coming back for a 5-1 decision in the second with the help of effective pitching by Al Hollingsworth. Spence collected six hits in ten appearances for the day, two of them three-baggers.

Pittsburgh ran its winning streak to three by downing Boston 6-2 in the first game behind the seven-hit pitching of Max Butcher, but the Braves came back with a 14-hit attack to square accounts, 12-3. Eddie Miller hit a home run with the bases loaded for Boston in the nightcap, while Babe Phelps drove in all of the Pirates runs with a pair of four-masters.

The New York Giants knocked Bucky Walters out of the box in the second inning and went on to trip the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, as Bob Carpenter went all the way.

At Chicago, the Cubs downed the Philadelphia Phils, 9-1, but the Phils took the second game, 8-1.

Nine to Get Real
Test Against Iowa

Chicago, May 4.—(AP)—Unde-feated Wisconsin bumps into its sternest opposition of the Big Ten baseball season this week end by entertaining second-place Iowa in a two-game series.

The Badgers, waiting until other teams had waded into the swirl, opened their conference season last week with 6-3 and 3-2 clinchers from Illinois.

The final victory was decided by the eight-hit twirling of Walt Lautenbach who left 10 batters combing the air for strikeouts.

The well-seasoned Hawkeyes squeezed through hapless Chicago, 1-0, then plastered on a 8-0 shut-out to total up their seventh win in eight starts.

Michigan and Ohio State moved into a tie for third and fourth. The Wolverines had a five-run rash in the fifth inning to whip Indiana, 9-8, after losing the previous day, 6-4. The Buckeyes became adjusted after dropping a 6-5 opener to Purdue to win the second game, 4-2 in 11 innings.

Northwestern and Minnesota halved a twin feature. The Wild-cats took the first, 8-7, getting all their runs in the first three frames. Working behind Bill Anderson's six-hitter, the Gophers produced a 3-2 victory in the second game, 4-2 in 11 innings.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Wisconsin	2	0	1.000
Iowa	7	1	.875
Michigan	3	1	.750
Ohio State	3	1	.750
Illinois	5	3	.625
Northwestern	3	3	.500
Purdue	2	4	.333
Indiana	2	6	.250
Minnesota	1	3	.250
Chicago	0	6	.000

too short and he had to climb back and wait until he found enough material to stretch it to its proper length.

When he finally made good his escape, these friends, said, he came face to face with a German sentinel just after he had slipped down the rope.

"Pretty good tonight isn't it, my boy", Giraud is supposed to have asked the sentry.

The surprised sentinel was reported to have replied: "Yes sir" as Giraud stuffed his hands in his pockets and strolled off, whistling.

Giraud's Escape

Result of Eight Months Planning

Vichy, May 1—(Delayed)—(AP)—General Henri Honore Giraud disclosed today that eight months of painstaking planning paved the way for his successful flight from supposedly escape-proof Koenigstein fortress where he was a prisoner of war.

Here is the story as Giraud told it to friends in the same matter-of-fact terms he might have used to describe a well-conceived military operation:

"For eight months every package I received from my wife included strands of thread which I wove into a cable 20 meters (about 65 feet) long. Thirty-seven words were deleted here by the censor."

"Shortly afterwards I reached the nearest railroad station but the alarm was quickly given and severe control already had been organized at the station.
